

Dixon "Ghost Town" Over Weekend With Brownout in Effect

INU Officials Appreciative of Cooperation Accorded Here

Because of the dimout Dixon took on the appearance of a "ghost town" Saturday, the condition being more apparent during the forenoon and after the supper hour than during the afternoon. Stores were open from 2 until 6 o'clock in the afternoon and the merchants were busy during the limited hours.

In the evening places of business in the downtown district were closed and generally in the outlying districts. Some taverns remained open while others were closed. The road houses outside the city limits remained open and were reported to have done a thriving business. Exterior lighting was almost entirely discontinued and on the interiors was reduced to some extent.

Service Stations Closed

The majority of service stations were closed over the week end. Saturday night two north side stations serviced cars from tank trucks, one station using a portable lighting plant to illuminate the drives while the second operated in darkness. The latter station also serviced cars Sunday night from a tank truck with the use of flashlights.

Motorists who failed to fill their gas tanks before 6 o'clock Saturday evening were at a loss to find an open station without some investigation Sunday as all electrically operated fuel pumps were locked.

INU Co. Appreciative

George B. Fluhr, vice president of the Illinois Northern Utilities Company, today issued the following statement:

"The Illinois Northern Utilities Company deeply appreciates the fine spirit of cooperation shown by industry, stores, movie theaters and others in putting into effect the necessary and difficult adjustments to conform to the order curtailing uses of electricity for the conservation of coal. Only the broad public welfare and the need for prolonging essential electric service for health, safety and property protection could possibly warrant such drastic restrictions. The sympathetic response and the speed with which compliance is being accomplished is encouraging. The company will continue to do its utmost in the difficult task of administering this order in the general interest."

Tojo and 26 Other Japs Deny Charges

Tokyo, May 6 (AP)—Hideki Tojo and 26 other war-time leaders of Japan today entered staccato pleas of innocent to charges that they unleashed a war of aggression and murder in the Pacific and were ordered to trial June 3 despite their counsels' protest that the interval is too short.

The Far East tribunal before which the 27 appeared for their first formal hearing, however, will convene again next Monday to permit the defense to renew its emphatic challenge that the court has no jurisdiction in the pending cases.

The only defendant not entering a plea of innocent was Dr. Shumei Okawa, who was absent from the courtroom undergoing a sanity examination by allied psychiatrists as a result of his slapping Tojo's bald head in the court last week and other prisoner's box antics, Okawa, former director of the East Asia Economics Research Institute of Manchuria, is accused of instigating the Mukden incident that set off Japanese aggression.

After the last defendant registered his plea, Justice Webb announced the trial would start June 3.

School Leaders Hold Meeting Here Today

School superintendents from ten counties in the northwest block of Illinois County Superintendents association opened their monthly meeting this morning in the office of Lee County Superintendent of Schools John Torrens in the courthouse here, with A. H. Lancaster and L. W. Miller, both of Dixon, as special guests.

New curriculum ideas and the many problems confronting individual superintendents were up for discussion at the all-day meeting. Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Marjoria Leinauer, DeKalb; Thomas R. Pfisterer, Stephenson; Frank Burns, Jo Daviess; Fred Keeler, Boone; R. M. Robertson, Whiteside; Floyd French, Bureau; Paul Conklin, Winnebago; Wilbur Pickering, Ogle; and Lawrence Brudi, Carroll.

Many Motorists in Quandry as Service Stations "Dim Out"

(By The Associated Press)

Restrictions on automobile service stations under the statewide dimout regulations had motorists in a quandary today and presented one of the leading problems resulting from the acute coal shortage.

Motorists in some areas became stranded yesterday when they ran out of gas and were unable to obtain it from filling stations, which had been ordered not to man electric gasoline pumps.

Meanwhile Chicago's dimout slackened off somewhat in its efficiency today as industrial plants began using their weeks allotment.

Commonwealth Edison Company said the load was only 25 per cent below normal at 9 a.m. (CDT) today, compared with an average hourly reduction of 32 per cent yesterday, and 39 per cent at 7 p.m. yesterday.

The Edison Company received 158,000,000 cubic feet of gas yesterday from the Peoples Gas, Light & Coke Company, and this will be burned in two Edison plants equipped to handle it. The gas was equivalent to 7,900 tons of coal.

Many Workers Idle

Industries of the state were cutting production time in accordance with the dimout regulations today, and thousands of workers were idle or faced layoffs.

In Champaign-Urbana, some service stations backed gasoline tank trucks up to their lots and pumped gasoline directly from the tank into automobiles, which lined up for more than a block in some cases.

However, Fire Chief R. W. Alsip of Champaign stopped this practice as dangerous.

Another Champaign station used a motorbike for power. Another jacked up an automobile and used its power.

The Illinois Power Company at Champaign finally ruled that except on Sundays, stations could pump gasoline during "normal" business hours for "essential" use only. It defined as essential trucks hauling goods, buses, taxicabs and trucks in interstate commerce, physicians, nurses and ambulances.

"Fast Time" Helps Out

The power company said electric consumption was off 32 to 34 per cent yesterday in Champaign-Urbana, but that part of this drop was because of Daylight Saving Time, instituted a week ago.

The University of Illinois generates its own electricity and officials said fuel on hand would last until about July 1. However, some voluntary restrictions were in effect, and the students affairs committee planned to meet tomorrow afternoon to decide whether to curtail extra-curricular events.

Champaign Field Generates Part of Its Own Power and Said Fuel on Hand Would Last 90 Days

However, voluntary restrictions were asked and use of hot water was placed on a schedule.

At Canton, some filling stations

Commemoration

Springfield, Ill., May 6 (AP)—A unique ceremony commemorating the return of Abraham Lincoln's body to Springfield 81 years ago was held at midnight last night in the historic Sangamon county courthouse.

The Lincoln College choir of Lincoln sang songs which Lincoln listened to in 1860. Vachel Lindsay's "Lincoln Walks at Midnight" was heard.

Vernon L. Nickell, state school superintendent impersonated Lincoln, descending the stairs from the second floor and solemnly reciting Lincoln's Farewell Address to His Springfield neighbors in 1861.

The ceremonies in the dimly lit courthouse, where Lincoln served in the legislature when the structure was the state capital, were attended by a group of Lincoln students.

Colorado Senator Sees British Loan Threat to Solvency of U.S.

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) criticized the proposed $3,750,000,000 British loan today as the beginning of a lending program that may bring "the end of a great and good experiment in democracy."

Johnson claimed the senate floor to oppose the measure as administration leaders waited impatiently for a break in debate they hope will bring a showdown vote this week.

In a prepared address, the Colorado senator said significantly that it "does not worry me to be in the minority" against the loan.

"It does worry me to have my country in the wrong", he continued.

Asserting that Britain has no more dependable ally than the United States, Johnson said he is convinced that the present proposal is only the first of $20,000,

Fears and Tempers Mount as Mines of Country Stay Idle

Congress Makes First Move Toward Taking Hand in Situation

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Fresh developments in the soft coal negotiations were indicated today when the government-sponsored conferences were recessed suddenly to permit attendance of all operators at this afternoon's session.

The operators caucused for an hour this morning while the miners' negotiating committee sat by. John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, was absent.

Edward R. Burke, head of the Southern Coal Producers association, and Charles O'Neill, chairman of the northern Appalachian group, also were absent. Burke was appearing before the house judiciary committee in behalf of a bill to curb imposition by a union of a royalty on the product of an employer. Such a payment is one of Lewis' major demands on the coal operators.

Government conciliators were silent on the developments beyond saying that a recess was called until 2:30 p.m.

He said food shipments have not yet been affected.

Tempers, Fears Mount

The coal strike which President Truman described as a "national disaster" stretched into its sixth week today with official fears and congressional tempers both mounting.

As John L. Lewis prepared to resume his "silent treatment" of the bituminous operators, congress made its first tentative move toward stepping into the dispute.

A house judiciary subcommittee scheduled hearings on a bill to outlaw any form of special production payments to unions. Such a law, if passed, would strike down Lewis' No. 1 demand—for a health and welfare fund for his miners.

Lewis held his own counsel on this maneuver as well as Truman's weekend report warning that the full impact of the strike has only "barely begun" to be felt.

Injuries Fatal to Retired Minister

Rev. Simon G. Eberle, 76, of Polo, well known in Dixon, who was one of four persons injured last Wednesday in a truck-automobile collision on U. S. route, 52, four miles north of Decatur, passed away in the Macon county hospital at Decatur at 6:15 o'clock last evening. The Rev. Mr. Eberle was a retired Evangelical pastor and at the time of the accident was en route to Charlotte, N. C., with his wife and nephew Elwood Koch of Madison, Wis., to spend a two weeks vacation visiting with his son and family.

Mrs. Eberle and her nephew were reported to be recovering from their injuries and the truck driver, Sherman Buck, 24, of Clinton, Ill., was released Wednesday night after his injuries had been dressed.

The body of the Rev. Mr. Eberle will be held at the Melvin funeral home in Dixon until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Funeral services will be conducted at the Polo Evangelical church at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. H. Seimsen of Freeport, district superintendent of the church, and the Rev. E. A. Schmidt, pastor of the Polo church, officiating. Interment will be in the Pierceville cemetery near Hinckley in DeKalb county.

House Committees' Attention Turned to Butter Problem

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The house committee investigating food shortages took up the butter problem today.

The group of farm state lawmakers who make up the special committee called Stabilization Chief Chester Bowles, OPA boss Paul Porter and Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson to Capitol Hill for an airing of their own and congressional views on price and other controls over dairy products.

Chairman Pace (D-Ga.) told a reporter "we intend to work out a program which not only will relieve present shortages, but establish the dairy industry on a sound long-range basis."

Pace said the committee agreed upon several recommendations two months ago and submitted them to the federal officials "but nothing has been done."

He added that Anderson and the committee "are in accord about what should be done, but the others are disregarding us."

Pace succeeded Anderson as committee chairman after the former New Mexico representative entered the cabinet last year.

Committee's Program

The committee program includes proposals that:

1. Butter, evaporated milk and casein ceiling prices be boosted.

2. Butterfat content of ice cream and milk be cut, without a corresponding price drop.

3. The price of dairy products be revised to include labor costs.

4. Dairy production subsidies be removed gradually with corresponding increases in price ceilings.

5. Anderson be given full control of production, prices and distribution of dairy products, instead of sharing it with OPA.

A large group of farm state legislators are backing the committee move.

The action follows a demand in the house last week by Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) that controls over beef be removed.

An attempt was made to do this in the OPA extension bill, but it failed by a few votes.

The OPA measure, as approved by the house, did provide for a gradual removal of subsidies, however. The senate still is considering the legislation, and Marriner S. Eccles, Federal Reserve Board chairman, was called before the banking committee to state his position on price controls.

Study Plans for Night School for Vets Here

An organization meeting to discuss the evening school for veterans which is being sponsored here by the board of education will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Dixon high school.

Every honorably discharged veteran is entitled to entrance in the school, which will offer courses two evenings a week, three hours each evening at times determined by the veterans.

In order to be eligible for enrollment, veterans must obtain a certificate of eligibility from the Veterans' administration by applying to Albert Ruggles, county service officer, whose office is in the Worsley building.

Courses offered include engineering, electricity, shop practice, internal-combustion engines, railroad courses, academic, art and business courses.

Power Boat Batters Daily News Building

Chicago, May 6 (AP)—Battered by heavy winds, the 6,500 ton cargo vessel Mainshaft Eye broke its moorings in the Chicago river yesterday and pounded for two hours against the Chicago Daily News plaza wall and the Washington street bridge.

The vessel had been leased from the maritime commission to furnish electricity from its generators to light the Civic Opera house, where a week's program by the Metropolitan Opera Co. opens tonight.

Two tugs finally secured the vessel in new moorings. Louis L. Schultz, Daily News building superintendent, estimated damage to the stonework and light standards on the plaza at $10,000. Otto Hansen, maintenance engineer, said bridge repairs would cost $2,000.

Shannon Girl's Hubby Has Prize GI Essay

Chicago, May 6 (AP)—Maj. Charles E. Hoy, European war veteran whose wife, Jean, lives in Shannon, Ill., won first prize in a Gardiner General Hospital essay contest which sought to sample the American soldier's ideal in modern womanhood.

He won on this contention: "The ideal wife will always be thought of as her husband's 'best girl.' His personal pin-up."

Survivors of 'Rock' Battle May Die in San Quentin Prison

FBI Gathers Evidence Against Mutineers in Alcatraz Prison

San Francisco, May 6 (AP)—The FBI moved into Alcatraz today to collect evidence against three survivors of the half-dozen convicts whose desperate, vain break for freedom brought a bloody, 36-hour siege of their cell-block and left five men dead and 15 wounded.

Not a single prisoner escaped. The three may yet die—in San Quentin's green-painted gas chamber.

"There is a good chance that evidence will be sufficient to indict the surviving participants for murder," asserted U. S. Atty. Daniel C. Deasy—and if it is, he said, the death penalty will be demanded.

Despite the fact that there were only two guns in the entire group involved in the furious battle, he added, "where one or more participants (in a conspiracy to escape) actually killed someone, the others would be part of that conspiracy, and could be charged with murder."

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is taking statements from other prisoners as well as from guards, Deasy reported, and "the matter will be presented to the federal grand jury here."

Survivors Identified

The three surviving participants, said Warden James A. Johnston, were Sam Shockley, 36, serving a life term for kidnapping and robbery in Oklahoma; Miran Edgar Thompson, 29, serving 99 years for kidnapping and life for killing a Texas policeman; and Clarence Carnes, 19, Oklahoma desperado serving 99 years for kidnapping and murder.

Guards broke into the last dark utility corridor of the embattled prison wing Saturday to find the bodies of three others.

Bernard Coy, 46, spy little Louisville, Ky., bank robber, who started the uprising by clambering up to a third-tier guards' gallery and forcing his way into it to slug and disarm guard Bert Burch, was defiant to the last. Death caught him with arms extended as though still gripping the rifle he had seized from the guard.

Others Found Dead

Also dead in the narrow, pipe-filled passageway were: Joseph Paul Crezter, 35, Los Angeles bank robber who had assumed command and carried on the fight furiously, despite his quick conclusion that the break had failed and "we're as far from San Francisco as ever!"

Marvin F. Hubbard, 36, Tennessee kidnaper, who had lived until Saturday morning—outlasting Coy and Crezter by one night.

The rifle and pistol which Coy had wrested from Burch were found beside the convicts.

There was no further resistance; the battle of the Rock was ended.

Dead were two guards—one, Harold P. Stites, shot in a valiant early assault attempting to free hostages; the other, W. H. Miller, captured unarmed and killed when

Commandant Fears for Marine Corps in Merger Scheme

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift came out fighting today to save his Marine Corps from the extinction he said is threatened for it in the pending Army-Navy merger bill.

The four-star Marine General contended that the Army "is determined to reduce the Marine Corps to a position of studied military ineffectiveness."

"And the merger bill in its present form makes this objective readily attainable," Vandegrift declared in testimony prepared for a closed session of the senate naval committee. The text of his statement was made available by the Navy.

A member of President Truman's informal council of military elder statesmen, the Marine Corps Commandant underlined the reminder that "the Marines are ready."

Corps Ready for Fight

"If it came to fight today," he added, "I do not know who could replace them."

"At a time when the responsible heads of other services are complaining of disintegration of fighting power accompanied by problems of low morale and deterioration of discipline," Vandegrift declared, "I can assure you that these conditions are not existent in the Marine Corps."

In sharper tones than either Secretary of the Navy Forrestal or Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz used in earlier appearances before the committee, Vandegrift contended that the war department general staff has considered "the very existence of the Marine Corps x x x as a continuing affront."

See Corps Extinction

"Even in advance of this proposed legislation," he continued, "it is seeking to reduce the sphere of the Marine Corps to ceremonial functions and to the provision of small ineffective combat formations and labor troops for service on the landing beaches."

"Passage of the unification legislation as now framed will in all probability spell extinction of the Marine Corps."

The naval committee is in its second week of hearings on the merger bill written by the senate military committee. It calls for a single department of common defense to replace the present War and Navy departments. Those services, along with the air forces, would be represented by undersecretaries, without cabinet rank.

Most Red Forces Are Out of Iran

New York, May 6 (AP)—Iranian Ambassador Rusein Ala was expected to arrive in New York today to report to the United Nations Security Council that all Russian troops—or virtually all—have been withdrawn from Iranian soil.

It was not known if he would submit his report immediately or wait until tomorrow, but in any event it was expected to be in the hands of the delegates when the council meets to take up the Iranian case at 2 p.m. (CDT) Wednesday.

Russia has until midnight tonight to complete the withdrawal under terms of her agreement with the Iranian government. Some of the delegates, however, have expressed the belief that Iran's report might be submitted before the deadline.

This report, unless questioned by a member of the council, was expected to open the way for council action to mark the case as closed.

Reports reaching both the state department and the Iranian embassy in Washington yesterday indicated that all Russian forces had left Iran, with the possible exception of some in the border territories of Azerbaijan province.

Dispositions of the Iranian case, which first came before the council in London, Jan. 19, would leave only the Spanish case on the agenda.

Remote Little Coral Atoll Fast Becoming Scientific Laboratory

Bikini, May 6. (AP)—This once sleepy and remote little coral atoll rapidly is being transformed into a huge scientific laboratory.

If the homesick natives who migrated to the island of Rongerik two months ago could return to Bikini they would be appalled to see what the Americans have done to the place they remember as home.

"They would understand why they can never come back here to live, even if the blast of an atomic bomb fails to make ash heaps of every tree and bush growing on the island."

Seabee bulldozers have ripped and torn their way over the island, clearing roadways through the coconut trees. Trees have been uprooted to clear sites for installation.

Dixon Bakers Back On Job; Strike At Dixon Mills Ended

Truman Submits Service Program of $7,246,335,200

Washington, May 6 (AP)—President Truman today submitted to congress a program calling for expenditures by the War department in the next fiscal year totalling $7,216,335,200.

The president said the estimates contemplate maintenance of an army of 1,070,000 men and officers on June 30, 1947. This would compare with 1,500,000 on June 30, 1946.

In addition to maintaining this strength the estimates provide $500,000,000 for government and relief in occupied areas and $200,000,000 for the atomic service formerly carried on by the Manhattan project.

The program compares with the preliminary appropriation estimate of $7,300,000,000 for the fiscal year 1947 which was included in the regular budget submitted by the president last January. It compares also with estimated obligations of $19.3 billion during the current fiscal year and to $52 billion for the fiscal year 1945.

The statement says that cash expenditures of the War department for the fiscal year 1947 are estimated to run to $8,600,000,000. This is $600,000,000 greater than the preliminary estimate included in the regular budget "due principally to larger expenditures from prior year appropriations than had previously been anticipated."

Allowances totalling $182,782,000 have been made for the reactivation of the National Guard and organized reserves.

Dr. Murray Honored by National Society

Dr. Warren G. Murray, managing officer of the Dixon State hospital has been chosen president-elect of the American Association on Mental Deficiencies for the coming year and will take office at the group's meeting in Montreal, Canada, in October.

Dr. Murray's election came at the association's meeting in New York last week, which he attended. Mrs. Murray and their daughter, Jean, went to Chicago yesterday, where he was to arrive by plane from the New York meeting.

A graduate of Ohio State university, Dr. Murray also studied in Vienna, and is considered an outstanding authority on medicine and psychiatry, having been called to various parts of the country for consultation in the past.

Continue Arraignment of Kewanee Matricide

Cambridge, Ill., May 6 (AP)—Arraignment of Richard E. Younggren, 27, of Kewanee, on a charge of murdering his mother with a hammer was continued indefinitely by Circuit Judge Leonard E. Telleen today by agreement of counsel.

State's Attorney Reynolds M. Everett said he and Thomas J. Welch, Younggren's attorney, had agreed that the arraignment should be continued for a few days at least.

Younggren, charged with beating to death his mother, Mrs. Henry Younggren, 50, in the kitchen of her home April 23, was wounded while serving in the Coast Guard and was injured seriously in an automobile accident in February. Attorneys have indicated he might be turned over to military authorities for mental treatment.

Wisconsin GOP in Revolt Against 2

Oshkosh, Wis., May 6 (AP)—The Wisconsin Republican party, long at odds with Gov. Walter S. Goodland, openly repudiated the 83-year-old chief executive yesterday by refusing to support his bid to remain in office.

The party, meeting in convention here, also virtually ignored Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket, by passing him up to endorse Circuit Judge Joseph R. McCarthy of Shawano, a Marine Corps veteran, for the senatorship.

Delbert J. Kenny of West Bend, a 50-year old investment banker, was endorsed for governor. Kenny, former Wisconsin department commander of the American Legion, was beaten by Goodland in the 1944 primary.

The setback does not eliminate Goodland and LaFollette from the Aug. 13 primary picture. Both will campaign without the official GOP endorsement.

LaFollette recently led the return of Progressives to the Republican ranks. He was elected six years ago as a progressive.

Judge McCarthy was a senatorial candidate in the 1944 primary and came in a poor second to Sen. Alexander Wiley in a split of votes.

FRED A. BRITTEN
Washington, May 6 (AP)—Fred A. Britten, who was a Republican representative from Illinois became noted for his "big Navy" views, died at the nearby Bethesda, Md., naval hospital Saturday night. He was 74.
Britten served in the house from 1913 until 1935 and was chairman of that chamber's naval committee from 1928 until the Democrats gained control of the house in 1931. He fought hard for Navy funds all through the 20's when the emphasis was on scrapping ships rather than building them.
Funeral services will be conducted here tomorrow.
Britten also was a foe of prohibition and was one of the small band of representatives who joined a few senators in voting against the resolution which in April, 1917, declared war on Germany.
He served continuously in the house from 1913 to 1935, representing a north side Chicago district (the ninth Illinois) and was chairman of the house naval affairs committee from 1928 to 1931. He lost the chairmanship when a Democratic majority took control of the house, but he never ceased advocating a strong navy.
In 1938, when he was quietly conducting an importing and exporting business in Chicago and Washington, he told an interviewer that he saw little to approve in the New Deal policies of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, but he did like the naval construction program.
"But we should have done it 25 years ago," he added. "Labor and materials cost less than. Besides if we had done it then, we would not be so far behind now".

Britten gained attention early in his career by his support of "big navy" plans. He was in the forefront of the fight which preceded congressional approval of the huge 1916 naval building program and he never ceased to resent what he called the scrapping of his program under the terms of the Washington naval limitations treaty of 1922. He was suspicious of treaties anyway, and held that European diplomacy was "founded on deceit".
Advocated Legalizing Beer
When he became chairman of the naval affairs committee he helped a movement which resulted in an act of February 13, 1929, providing for the construction of 15 cruisers.
Britten worked consistently for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and offered as a compromise a bill to legalize beer with an alcoholic content of 2.5 per cent.
He voted against the World war resolution after he had unsuccessfully tried to amend it so that no American soldiers, except volunteers would be allowed to fight in Europe, Asia or Africa without the consent of congress.
A former amateur lightweight boxing champion, florid of countenance and aggressive, Britten was a formidable opponent in debate. He could "think on his feet" and his verbal barbs frequently irked Republican colleagues as well as Democrats.
Outside the legislative chamber Washington knew him as a genial man-about-town and a jovial host. His parties were famous and attracted many notables.
Because of his gift for debate Britten was used often by Republican minorities to heckle the opposition. On April 21, 1934, he charged that "junior brain trusters" were meeting nightly in "the little red house in Georgetown" to frame "the communistic legislation we all talk about in the cloak room".
Pressed for details, he said those who met there included Thomas G. Corcoran and Benjamin Cohen, government lawyers who later were said to have organized numerous Roosevelt plans, and two federal trade commissioners, James M. Landis and Dr. Frederic C. Howe. The latter was consumer's counsel for the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.
Grant's Summer Residence
The house proved to be a red brick, octagonal structure President Grant once used as a summer residence. Corcoran admitted he lived there.
Another typical Britten gesture came Nov. 2, 1913, when he introduced a resolution calling upon President Wilson to furnish a list of executive officers who had been absent from duty during the preceding four weeks. Britten said he wanted the nation to know how many of them had been on "political vacations".
Britten was born in Chicago, Nov. 18, 1871, but went to the west coast as a youth. When the 1893 World Columbian Exposition at Chicago offered an amateur boxing tournament. Britten went there with a team from the Olympic club of San Francisco. He won the Pacific coast championship in 1892, the central championship at Chicago in 1893 and the eastern championship in a Chicago Boston tournament the following year.

He never boxed professionally and when friends asked him whether he thought he could fight if he had to, he usually replied that he would "prefer to trust to my sprinting". Britten was a sprinter and fancy diver before he took up boxing.
He entered politics in Chicago as an alderman, serving from 1909 to 1912, when he was elected to congress. He married Alma Hand of Weiser, Idaho.

Seizure Not Likely
Seizure, however, was not being mentioned seriously among labor department officials as a likely next step— for the big reason, they said privately, that the government has no assurances that the 400,000 idle miners would return to their jobs even then.
What is expected first, instead, is some government suggestion of possible compromise proposals which might form a basis for real collective bargaining between Lewis and the operators.
It was learned from those who have been present that Lewis has not said a word in the last four days of contract negotiations. He has left all talking to his subordinates.
The immediate hurdle to full give-and-take discussions is Lewis' demand for some $3,000,000 in back pay for holidays occurring since Truman wiped out the wartime order requiring payment for six major unworked holidays. Lewis insists that the old contract required payment for those holidays regardless of any change in national policy.
In 1939 this country imported 6225 tons of vegetable ivory from South America to be used in button making.

A Thought for Today
When thou hast eaten and are full, then thou shalt bless the Lord thy God for the good land he hath given thee.— Deuteronomy 8:10.

Earth is here so kind, that just tickle her with a hoe and she laughs with a harvest.
—Douglas Jerrold.

Time to Get Rough
Throughout its national history the United States has pursued a policy of Christian forgiveness toward peoples it has vanquished on the battlefield. It has made no exception even in the current cases of the bestial Germans and jointly, the rule the world. These defeated enemies, not only of the United States but of mankind itself, have been accorded a kindly consideration which is, under the circumstances, little short of incredible.

They have been fed, clothed, and housed by the American occupation forces. They have been entertained, pampered, and encouraged and aided in the exercise of their "inalienable and free franchise"—a franchise they never before have, in truth, known.

Curious consideration, this. But admittedly, oh-so-complimentary to the American system of fair play, to the New World tradition of the good-natured pat on the back accorded the loser at the end of the game. No nation could fail to appreciate it, or to swear eternal admiration for so generous a victor. Or could it?

Whatever the psychological explanation, the bald fact is this:
Germany and Japan not only do not love us for our kindness, but they actually despise us all the more for it—and they see in it an element of weakness which gives them the hope of bloody vengeance in the future.

Signs of that unreasoning hatred, carefully camouflaged at first, have become increasingly evident in Europe and Asia these past few months, as the seemingly-unshakable American generosity has dispelled initial fear and original preoccupation with individual self-interest. And at Landsberg, Germany, the other day, the phenomenon flared into violent explosion for all the world to see.
German rioters screamed "Gestapo" and "S. S. swine" at American military police who attempted to quell them.

From the circumstance that the rioters were Jews held at a displaced-persons camp, it is easy to predict what the predominant American reaction will be. Our government, well indignantly be-told that the basic cause was hunger, which we must relieve with food from our own tables if we are not to be held personally responsible for a savage revival or of bloodshed throughout Europe.

But these people have been hungry before. Yet they didn't turn under Hitler because they considered themselves fortunate indeed

Washington—Behind the UNO investigation, of course, is the purpose of Russia to beat revolution in Spain, so as to strengthen the Latin front of Communist activity—France, on one side, Italy on the other and the three together.
Inner portents suggest the Communist will not get away with it.
Chairmanship of the UNO commission went to Australia. Spain sits with both paws on Gibraltar, and Gibraltar paws protectively the British lifeline, the main sea traffic route from Britain to Australia. During the war, Spain made no move against the Rock which General Eisenhower, fearful of Spanish action used as his headquarters to launch the North Africa invasion. The published diary of Eisenhower's aide, Harry Butcher (which incidentally shows the aide went off on other duties at times when the action became most interesting and thus furnishes great leaps in the military accounting) shows Spain kept the nazis off, and did not interfere with operations of the British airfield there, which was the key to maugering of our war action.

Spain today is impotent. Britain or Australia will hardly wish to renew their exposed condition on the Rock during the war, by permitting a new Communist-pressured government in Spain the same easy access, which France did not use, and the nazis never were able to employ.

Others on the UNO commission are China, Brazil, France and Poland. I would judge the vote then would be about 3 to 2 against a revolution in Spain or acquisition of Communist or Russian power there. Some authorities are interpreting this matter the other way.
They are saying that inasmuch as Brazil is the only commissioner with diplomatic relations to Madrid, the vote would be 4 to 1 for Russian moves to eliminate France. Diplomatic relations are to be alive, and understood full well that death would be the penalty for any violent attempt to improve their situation. And they're far hungrier in the Russian zone of occupation, yet they don't riot there, for the same sufficient reason.

Uncle Sam, though, is different.
He'll take all the foul abuse they care to heap on him—take it and apologize for the audience.
Let no one mistake the tremendous significance of this event. German bughers the common people of Japan, people all over the world are watching closely. The ghost of Adolf Hitler is rocking with laughter. And the specter of the last great war grows ever closer.

We think it's time for the United States to end this comedy of errors which springs from the best of intentions, but which none the less surely points to the most tragic of consequences. We think it's time for Uncle Sam to get rough.

not concerned here. This issue gets down to almost fundamentals.
Russia occupies two-thirds of Europe today. She has political agitation alive in the other third, excepting only Spain. In the matter of allowing further encroachments up the Rock, I suspect China and Brazil would join Australia. Although possibly France would side with Russia's Poland.

In action, however, these UNO commissions have been required for the face of things, to move only by unanimity. A divided vote will be avoided if possible. The investigation will necessarily, then require much time. Technically it is concerned with the question whether Spain is a threat to the peace of the world. A look at any geography, comparing the size of Spain and Russia could have dispelled this charge, except that the Spanish exile government charged German scientists were in Spain making an atom bomb. Thus appears preposterous as not even the British, our collaborators in its development, have one, or the where-withal to one—yet the charge must be investigated.

Some authorities here have thought Franco would not allow the commission to come into Spain because Russia's Poland is represented on it. His dangers from thwarting the investigation, however, might be greater than from welcoming it. Yet that is a relatively minor matter in the major stakes on the table in this issue.

Personally, I suggest Spain let in an American Army man who is beyond politics, to make the inquiry.

A military man who does not care what the Spanish government is in this transitional movement of the greater world, but who does actually want to know whether any atomic threat to peace exists there, might, by undertaking an investigation, solve the difficulty.
Otherwise the issue may be blown up into unrealistic importance for Russian purposes in world politics.

WILLIAM B. NATTRESS Amboy, May 6.—The funeral of William B. Nattress, 85, who passed away at his home here Friday afternoon after a long illness, was held this afternoon at the Vaughan funeral chapel, the Rev. Dennis Bennett, pastor of the Congregational church, officiating. Burial was in Woodside cemetery at Lee Center.

Mr. Nattress was born July 29, 1860, in Toronto, Canada. He had resided on a farm near West Brooklyn for nearly 50 years when he retired three years ago and moved to Amboy.

Surviving are three sons, Joseph, Hayward, Calif.; Roy, West Brooklyn, and Cecil, Amboy, seven daughters, Mrs. Jennie Freidhoff, West Brooklyn, Mrs. Gertrude Loehr Delavan III, Mrs. Pearl Curran, Mrs. Beatrice Brodt, Mrs.
Hazel Crawford, Miss Zella Nattress and Mrs. Gene Smith, all of Chicago, and two sisters Mrs.
Elizabeth Longhouse and Mrs. Annie Fleming, both of Woodbridge, Ontario, Canada.

saw all right, and she was surprised, and then she wondered why she was surprised; she guessed it was because he wasn't much good with a gun.

He finished the first cut and looked up, smiling. "Where's the Woodland Garden Dance Hall?"

She stared at him. "Oh," she said, and then, "It's up the other side of Orleans."

"Would you like to go there with me?"

Debby looked blank. "To the Woodland Garden?"

"Why not?"

"Gee," she said, "I don't know."
She felt herself blushing.
"When?"

"Tonight. We've had an un-godly amount of fresh air. Don't you think a little night life would do us good?"

She could feel it not only in her cheeks, but way down in her neck and up on her temples. She didn't know why she should be so excited, except that everything had been just sort of happened, and this was like a real date, planned out ahead of time. "I guess the Woodland Garden isn't much like the places you're used to," she said.

He laughed. "What kind of places do you think I'm used to?"
She smiled timidly. "Oh, those clubs in New York where the orchestras you hear on the radio play. And the ballrooms of the hotels. Bart and Ann go to the Copley Plaza," she added, "and the Somerset, and sometimes the Ritz. The Woodland is just a place—and it's full of a lot of people like us." She motioned with her hand toward the house.
"I guess it's cheesier than anything you ever saw."

He laughed again. "Did you ever hear of Trenton?"

There are several phases of Elliott Roosevelt's activities and associations, in addition to his defaulted loans which would be thoroughly investigated by appropriate committees of congress if the Democrats were not in control and determined to suppress all information which would tend to discredit the character with which the party has endowed his late father. Practical politicians on both sides recognize that this character is one of the greatest assets of the Democratic party and the Republicans therefore are as eager to discredit it as the Democrats are to preserve it. Whether the Republicans in a similar position would act otherwise we do not know. Coolidge did not try to protect the Harding administration but it would be naive to expect that the Democrats would give him credit for virtuous motives.
Such is the cynicism or the game of politics that Republicans might not attribute such motives to him.

Certain operations of Howard Hughes the rich Houston Tex., and Hollywood manufacturer, motion picture producer and aviation magnate would come under scrutiny were the Republicans returned to power in congress.

Hughes and Elliott Roosevelt are intimate friends. Hughes is also a friend and might be called a protégé of Jesse Jones, of Houston, the former secretary of commerce.
The Jones have known him since his childhood and regard him highly.

In 1913 the Reconstruction Finance Corporation put up $18,000-000 to enable Hughes and Henry Kaiser to build three enormous wood and plastic cargo planes, more than twice the size of the B-29 and capable of carrying 650 persons. Construction began at Culver City, Cal. but Kaiser withdrew when it developed that the $18,000,000 would not produce even one of these ships. Jones as head of the R.F.C. told Hughes he himself would have to pay any excess cost and Hughes carried on. The ship has not been completed however and it may never fly. The experience may be worth something to aeronautical science but there is, of course no standard by which to appraise the value of such information.

The Army Air Forces had become interested in another Hughes plane in 1939. General H. Arnold states that it seemed suitable for military use and the design was highly interesting because duramold construction was to be used and the ship presented the promise of improvement in the aerodynamic and structural arts.
Aluminum was scarce and General Arnold thought it might be possible to get quantity production in spite of the shortage.

On July 8, 1942, President Roosevelt personally inquired about this ship which General Arnold describes as suitable for high-speed, long-range, high-altitude service. The next year the Germans were knocking down many American photo-reconnaissance pilots in P-38's.

"We needed something that would do the job and outrun the German fighters," General Arnold wrote. "The British Mosquito had proved itself but we were unable to get Mosquitoes in sufficient quantities. The Hughes airplane was the only one already designed which appeared entirely suitable and which could be produced in time to do any good."

On Sept. 3, 1943, General Arnold "verbally" directed that 100 of these ships be bought from Hughes the aluminum shortage had passed and the wooden construction had been abandoned in favor of metal.

The contract with Hughes was terminated last September without the delivery of a single ship.
The Army still expects to take two however, for experiments.
The 100 ships were to have cost $48,900,000 plus a maximum fee of four per cent. Thus about $68-000,000 of public money was committed to Hughes projects which produced nothing.

Elliott Roosevelt returned from Europe in the autumn of 1943 and served for a period at the war department as chief of the reconnaissance branch. He was head man and it was during this time that General Arnold gave his verbal order for the 100 Hughes planes. For a number of reasons technical and industrial, Maj. Gen.
O. P. Echols had opposed the adoption of this plane to the end, but was over-ruled.

Setting forth his position General Arnold wrote that money was never a first consideration when American lives and American victory were at stake.

"I let out for anything which offered a probability of speeding victory. I would be the last to claim that this process was economical in dollars. In fact I have never claimed that war is economical."

When Elliott Roosevelt, then a colonel in the Army Air Corps, returned from England on Nov. 15, 1941, The Associated Press story said that John E. Meyers, public relations representative for Howard Hughes' was his host in New York where Elliott in those days generally stopped at the Waldorf on his visits to town. Hughes also goes to the Waldorf and maintains an apartment there.

"He (Elliott) was a guest of Mr. Meyers at a party at the El Morocco night club last night.
The A.F. said "Mr. Meyers said Col. Roosevelt would go to Washington late today."

Less than a month later on Dec-3 when Elliott married Miss Fay Emerson at Grand Canyon National Park Ariz. the press accounts said Meyers again was at his side to give the bride away and Jack Frey, the president of TWA, the big air-line, was best man.
Howard Hughes owns the controlling interest in TWA.

Last December Pan-American Airways, generally regarded as the pioneer in trans-Atlantic navigation petitioned the Civil Aeronautics Board to modify routes which had been allotted to itself TWA and American Airlines.

Pan-American's petition said the routes assigned would give TWA and American a monopoly of American-flag air service to Italy and the Soviet Union and to most of France and Germany.

"We ask the board to reconsider whether it actually issues to be guilty of the gross favoritism to TWA, the petition said.
Further it charged that the board had practically thrown Pan-American out of France and Ireland for the benefit of TWA.

Republican and former national treasurer of the party is one of the chief executives of Pan American.

Spring Flight
By WILLIAM MAIER

THE DATE
NIX

ELLIE had found a heater for Agnes and bought it all by himself; he seemed very proud of it. He had asked Bart and Joel to help change the stove, around, and Debby sat on the edge of one of the dining room chairs and watched stoically as they carried out the old pot-bellied stove and brought in the new oil heater.
Pretty soon nothing would be the same. She sat still, following Ellie and Joel and Bart with her eyes as they moved around the room.

Ellie was being important and scowling and not looking at Agnes because he was so self-conscious about how good-hearted he'd been to buy it for her, and Agnes was sitting there saying, "That's going to be wonderful, that's going to be great; just think, no more ashes trucked across the floor," and not meaning it because it wasn't the kind she had wanted. Debby was thinking, "Gee, she's good. Imagine sitting there saying things like that when it isn't the kind you wanted."

They had brought the new heater in, and it was sort of a fostered black instead of being painted up like wood the way Agnes had wanted it. Ellie was explaining about it to Bart. "She picked one out of her catalogue there," he said, "big enough to heat the Woodland Garden Dance Hall, and with a lot of fancy stuff you don't need. Fifty-nine ninety-five, it was. That's sixty dollars, lackin' a nickel." Working with his left hand—his right arm was still in its sling—he pulled the glass tank out of its carton, set it on the table, and wiped it with a cloth. "I didn't have to pay much more for a third of that for this one—got it from a fellow I know in Provincetown. He don't have to charge the fancy prices
'cause all he's got is a shed out behind his house. No overhead, see?"

BART nodded, he was studying the connection on the end of the copper pipe. "I guess this end goes on the tank there," he said.
Ellie looked over his shoulder.
"No, that end goes on the valve.
And the valve screws in here, and that's all there is to it."

Agnes was sitting still, watching, and now her eyes were smouldering. Ellie shouldn't have made out she was dumb like that.
Debby thought, especially when she was being so good about it.

Joel picked up the valve and jiggled the flange with his finger. "What happens if the valve gets stuck?" he asked.

"It don't get stuck," Ellie said coldly. "Will you leave the valve alone please?"

Bart carried the tank over to the back of the heater. "Is there a holder for this thing?" he asked Ellie.

"We'll have to set it on some blocks of wood."

"That's going to look great," Agnes said ominously.

"It'll rig up something better lookin' later," Ellie held his ruler against the baseboard. "Some blocks of wood will do for now, just to get her goin'." Debby, you run out to the barn and get some blocks of wood, different sizes.
An armful of 'em."

Joel said, "I'll help you," and he followed her out to the barn.
He watched her as she clambered over the pile in the corner, tossing out some two-by-twelves and some four-by-fours and some two-by-fours. "You'll find a saw in the workshop there," she said.
"Do you want to saw those two long ones in two?"

He picked up the two pieces and took them into the shop, and in a minute he heard the saw working. She had enough pieces and the vent and stood in the doorway, watching him. He could Compliance with the order of the Illinois Commerce Commission restricting the use of electricity has, on the whole, been good. There are some violations, largely due to misunderstandings, and these are being corrected as rapidly as possible.

While no specific limitations have been placed on residential use, cooperation on the part of users of electric service in homes and apartments is most important. Minimum use in the home will contribute greatly to the successful bridging of this emergency.

All users of electricity can cooperate.

Please turn off all lights not actually needed and confine all other uses of electric service to the barest minimum.

Such cooperation will benefit you and the entire community.

Treated by New Modern Non-Surgical Methods

If you suffer from the agonizing pains of these diseases and have tried dozens of remedies and they all have failed . . . then learn today about a new, trustworthy treatment method that has helped thousands to new health.

The first principle of this new treatment method is to go directly to the cause of your suffering and start the removal of the poisons from your system. Drugs and medicines that give temporary relief from your aches and pains will not do one bit of good toward relieving the cause of your troubles.

Pain and distress are nature's warnings that something is radically wrong with your system . . . something if let go may lead to serious complications that may result in permanent injury.

In response to thousands who have written to them about their famous methods of helping chronic sufferers to better health, the Ball Clinic has prepared an AMAZING FREE BOOK entitled "Rheumatism and its Kindred Diseases." This highly informative book tells how for over 20 years this new treatment method has corrected many serious basic conditions and troubles.

It tells how you too may find comforting relief, new health and new outlook on life. There is no obligation. This instructive book may save you years of untold misery. Write today to DALL CLING, DEXPI 4415 Excelsior Springs, Mo.
